

Juhwan Oh

Juhwan Oh is Professor of International Health Policy and Management at Seoul National University College of Medicine and chief of unit for education, research, and policy in JW LEE Center for Global Medicine of SNU. He is teaching global health and evaluation in public and global health for medical students. He is currently serving as recurrent co-chair of Participatory Priority Setting for Health Insurance Benefit Coverage of Health Technology; Chair of Diseases Specific Priority Setting Committee ; and as Chair of National Committee for Catastrophic Medical Payment Prevention of Korea Government. He is serving as an academic editor of PLoS One; editorial board member for global health in Journal of Korean Medical Science, SSM Population Health, and Editor-in-chief of Journal of Global Health Science. He was a Takemi Fellow in international health at Harvard T.H.Chan School of Public. His research interest include priority setting in health technology; impact evaluation of project, program, and policy in global and public health; maternal and child health; and universal health coverage. He is the leading translator of Korean version of the book "Access".